THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.

Lines Written on the Receipt of Cyrus W. Field's Dispatch, announcing the success of the Atlantic Telegraph.

BY O. BUTLER BUFFIELD.

Lift up your heads, ye everlasting hills!
Ye rock-bound portals of the sea, give way!
Ye sleeping thunders of the mountain-tops,
And forests vocal with the moaning pine,
Ye winged winds that sweep the roaring main,
Come, join your songs with stern Niagara's voice,
And tuneful chorus of the river tides,
And silver chimings of the rippling rills;
Let one wide Continent unite to swell
The world's glad anthem on his happy day;
For roughold Ocean wild, with all his storms,
At last hath conquered in his own domain!
A modern Cyrus now, with Titan chain,
Comes, not as Xerxes scourging his proud waves,
But bends the vanquished captive to his will.
Behold! the conquered monarch of the deep,
As thro' the harbor's gate he drags the fleet,
And bathes with sobbing waves his victor's feet!

See how the world is heaving in her joy,
How rival kingdoms rise in glad salute,
And sister cities meet in fond embrace.
America on ancient Albion smiles:
Europe from Italy's soft, sunny eyes,
And Asia from poor India's troubled strand,
Into the New World's leaping heart look down,
And whisper in her bending ear "All Hail!"
New-York, the brilliant city of the Franks,
Receives unto her breast with warm embrace,
And showers her smiles on London's hoary walls,
Greets with a shout old Edinboro' town,
And with her sister cities, south and west,
Thunders a hearty welcome round the domes
That gild the cities of the Northern Bear,
While rolls its echoes far along the plains
Where Asia's horde in savage conflict blend;
Hamburg from Baltic's rough and rocky shore
Sends her free greeting to a Nation free;
And venerable Rome, arising slow,
Can scarce believe that in this wicked age
A miracle is wrought without her aid,
And wonders if, as in the days of old,
The gods again have come upon the earth;
While minor cities of the world behold
The herald rays of her Millenial dawn.

Proud Kings and Emperors and smiling Queens
Extend the unglobed palm in earnest grasp
To take our young Republic by the hand,
While dust-beclouded Ministers of State
Throughout the hemispheres both old and new,
This day upon the Ocean's rim have met,
And in the glad rejoicings of the hour
Unite to say: 'Let this one simple cord,
Which Ocean now at last is forced to hold,
Be to us all a golden link of love,
That henceforth we, as rulers wise, may hear
The honest beatings of each other's hearts,
And yield our Nations and their sacred rights
To that perpetual and most holy Peace
Which this day dawns upon a startled world."

The Works at Cherbourg.

CHERBOURG, July 25, 1858.

I have seen and walked round the famous new basin, began in 1836 by Louis Philippe, and now (1858) finished by Napoleon III.; and truly it is a great national work, of which Frenchmen may be justly proud. In its present dry state it is a far more imposing spectacle than it will be when full of water; for, looking down with giddy head into the immense excavation, formed with infinite pains, patience and skill, by blasting in the solid rock, and now as smooth and symmetrical as a marble sarcophagus, one realizes, the force of the mot of M. de Tocqueville, speaking of the works of Cherbourg, "They are the pyramids of Egypt hewn downward in the earth instead of being raised in the air." I must here observe however, that contrary to an impression which I, in common, I doubt not, with many of your readers, had derived from exaggerated printed accounts, the new basin is not a work differing essentially in character from others which were completed long ago.—It has nothing to do with the safety of the harbor, which was insured in the time of Louis Philippe by the completion of the wondrous breakwater planned by Vauban. It is merely an additional dock basin for building, repairing and arming vessels of war, precisely similar in kind to the two already existing, and called the Avant Port and the Bassin a Flot.

The third dock was during its formation known as the Arriere Bassin, and it is now to be called the Bassin Napoleon III. It is larger than either of the other two, but not near so large as both of them put together. It is situated further inland, and the water will ultimately reach it through two entrances, one leading out of each of the other docks. But on August 7th the gates leading from the Avant Port will remain closed, and the water will be let in solely from the Bassin a Flot, which itself is fed by the Avant Port. When the two former basins were inaugurated the process of letting in the water was very tedious, occupying several hours; but I understand that on the present occasion engineering science will find means to fill the basin in a very short time. The Avant Port took ten years to make. It was inaugurated by Marie Louise, when Regent, on August 27, 1813, in the presence of 25,000 people. She went down into the basin previously to the water being turned on, and here was the last foot set in it while it was dry.

The second basin (Bassin a Flot) was terminated in 1829, and was inaugurated by Charles X., then Duke of Angoulome. On each of these occasions specimens of the current coins of the day were deposited at the bottom of the dock, and doubtless the precedent will be followed at the inauguration of the third basin. The Emperor and Empress, I take it for granted, will descend to the bottom of the dock and walk about, and will be the last to leave it. A tent is now in course of erection at the eastern end of the basin, for the Emperor and Empress and their suite. On either side are tribunes with a considerable number of seats, but I am told that these will be occupied by ladies only. From these tribunes a fine view of the water coming in through the gates of the Avant Port will be obtained. At the back there will be a reserved space, where cavaliers of the ladies in the tribunes will find standing room, but they will be able to see nothing.

LASSOING THE MUSTANG.—A large number of our citizens attended the novel exhibition of lassoing the Wild Mustang, by two Mexicans, on the afternoon of Thursday last, and from all that we can learn, the exhibition was a success and was highly gratifying to those who witnessed the scene. At the appointed time Jose Rodriguez and Filipe Leon entered the ring (which was made by a rope fence) where the Mustangs were confined, with remarkable dexterity, threw the lasso among the herd, catching one of the animals, and after a struggle bringing him on to his side, when the lasso was removed and he was set at liberty. In this way the animals were lassoed by the neck, by the foot, by three feet, &c. One of the Mustangs was then led out of the pen, and with a nimbleness characteristic of the beast, put off over the plain, followed by the two Mexicans on horseback. The scene became intensely interesting, but after something of a run on the part of the audience as well as on the part of the performers, the animal was lassoed, and with considerable effort "floored." The lassoed was then tied to the tail of the horse ridden by the Mexican, and brought into camp; his eyes blindfolded, the lasso removed, and he was once more allowed to run with the herd.

The bill announcing the exhibition, stated that $25 would be paid any person who would catch a Mustang and ride him. The challenge was accepted by a young man by the name of Broome, of this city, who entered the ring, and after repeated trials caught the animal, when the remaining Mustangs were let out of the pen, and the new horse trainer proceeded with his task. The animal was choked by the lasso until the breath had nearly left his body, and although drawn close to the fence he pitched and reared until the blood run from his nostrils and the fence gave way under his repeated efforts to rid himself of his tormentors. When every muscle in his body had been stretched to its utmost tension, and when the noble creature could make but little further show of resistance, his eyes were darkened by a blinder, the saddle placed upon his back, the bridle properly adjusted, and in an instant he was mounted by his daring and intrepid tamer, Mr. Broome. He did not start off into a rapid pace as was expected, but was forced into a walk by the power of the whip. However, the Judges decided that the horse had been ridden, and that the money belonged to the winner.—St. Paul Times, 14th.

HEAVY RAINS ABOVE.—The river at this point is at an unusually high stage of water for this season of the year. During two days past it has risen nearly two feet, and is still rising. The upper country has undoubtedly been visited by very heavy rains. The Bridge Company, however, are still at work, though they are contending against serious obstacles.

P. S. We learn from passengers who arrived on the Frank Steele yesterday, from above, that the heaviest rains ever known in this country, had fallen during the past few days. The streams and rivers had swollen to an unprecedented height, and in many places the banks had been washed away by the acre. This probably accounts for the river here being so muddy, and not as many supposed, that the Missouri River had changed its course, and was seeking an outlet through Minnesota, via the Great Father of Waters.—St. Paul Times, Aug. 14.

NEW YORK POLICE MATTERS.—Mr. Carpenter, Deputy Superintendent of Police, has just prepared his Quarterly Report for the three months ending with July last. The Report states that the total number of arrests within this period was 17,928—10,477 natives of Ireland, 2,690 natives of the United States, 2,621 Germans, 668 Englishmen, 222 Scotchmen, 109 Frenchmen, &c. The arrests for intoxication take the lead, in point of numbers; disorderly conduct being next in order, and assault and battery chances next. There have been nine arrests for murder, three for arson and two for libel. During the three months 19,072 persons have been lodged at the Station houses; $12,495 55 taken from prisoners and lodgers. Over the Police Telegraph there have been sent, in the same period, 20,-755 messages, and by this means 1,227 children have been restored to their parents.

POE'S RAVEN.—The Boston Transcript notices as on free exhibition in that city, a beautiful specimen of water-colored painting, executed by Weinert, a member of the London Water-Color Society. The subject is taken from Poe's Raven. The mourner of the lost Lenore sits surrounded by volumes of "forgotten lore," with his face buried in his hands. The dark, heavy drapery imparts a gloom to the apartment contrasting with the soft, dreamy light from above, which envelopes the shrouded form of the painter's ideal of Poe's creation. Two rosy cherubs are lifting a thin veil from the pale face of the "rare and radiant maiden," their tiny faces lit up with the expression of admiration, intermingled with care lest they should disturb her slumbers.—There is a softness and subdued coloring over the whole picture that perfectly accords with the spirit and pathos of the poem, and the beholder can almost hear the raven notes, "Nevermore."

G. SIMMONDS,
SOLE PROPRIETOR AND MANUFACTURER OF
PURE OHIO
Catawba Brandy.
THIS Brandy has been manufactured for several years from the pure juice of the Catawba Grape, thus affording additional evidence, of the progress of American enterprise and industry, and of our ability to produce articles at home, equal to those made by any other nation.
The Ohio Catawba Brandy, not only equals but excels the best imported Brandies, in purity and flavor. It is in fact the best Brandy known. This statement is fully corroborated by the certificates of our most distinguished analytical chemists.
The want of pure brandy has long been felt in this country, and the introduction of an article of such excellence as to commend the sale and use of it to the compounds hitherto sold under the name of Brandy, can only be regarded a great public good. The Catawba Brandy possess all the good qualities claimed for the best imported liquors, and is of perfect purity and superior flavor, and a sovereign and sure remedy for
Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Cramp, Colic
Languor, Low Spirits, General
Debility, &c.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce the best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown of it these Pills have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take but power ful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood and expel the disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow diseases, and strengthen sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to their whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of society, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill.—While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in dimin shed doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugarcoated they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made, which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have sent their names to certify to the public to the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the statement of their conviction that my preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agents below named are pleased to furnish grams my American Almanac, containing direct ons for their use and certificates of their cures of numerous complaints.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in the certain value or curative powers. The sick want the best and there is for them and they should have it.
